VANDALISM IN MADOC

On Saturday, July 23rd, the village of Madoc was the location of three incidents of vandalism. The construction site, at the new Senior Citizens building had about $700 or $800 damage, there was about $100 damage at the Highschool and about $200 damage was done behind Kincaid's IGA store. These incidents all occurred late on Saturday night but it has been brought to our attention that these have not been the only cases of vandalism in this area in the last few weeks.

The vandalism at the Senior Citizen's building, which is now being built, was discovered on Monday, July 24th, but it was not discovered after a long period of inactivity on the site as was reported on some area radio broadcasts. The construction superintendent on the site stated that they had put in a normal work week prior to that weekend and they discovered the damage when they reported to the site on Monday. Eleven thermal-pane windows had been broken, several screens for these windows had also been destroyed and holes and had been punched through some of the siding that had been erected.

Construction personnel, the construction superintendent and the Madoc OPP confirmed that this was not the first incident on this site. There had been at least one other incident when copper piping for the drains under the floor had been twisted and damaged. Plumbers from Toronto were called in to do the repairs at a cost of around $650. The Madoc OPP stated that vandalism is not an uncommon occurrence on construction sites and they also stated that it must be reported so that they can begin to do something about it. The construction company, Frank Zupet Construction of Mississauga, have installed a vapour light on the site and they are also considering stationing a night watchman on the site to see that this trend does not continue. The OPP have interviewed the neighboring people and have alerted their patrol cars to keep this area under surveillance.

The Madoc OPP were also notified on Saturday night that there was some suspected tampering with a construction vehicle at the Highschool. However, when they arrived on the site, they could find no evidence of this but they did find two broken windows. Repair work was being carried out on the school's brick work and many of the old broken bricks were left lying on the ground in front of the school. Someone apparently came along, saw the bricks and the windows and threw two bricks through the windows.

At 1:30 a.m. Sunday morning, the top of the well behind Kincaid's IGA was torn off and this was not easy to accomplish. The uprights that support the covering of the well are about 3" by 3" thick, and these were broken in half. Mr. Bob Henderson stated, "It looks like someone hooked a chain on it and pulled it down." Mr. Henderson also said that he had had two other minor incidents in the previous two weeks.

Vandalism such as this becomes very costly and although the police are doing everything in their power to put a stop to it, they need the co-operation of the community. If you see anything suspicious taking place, you are asked to contact the police immediately. It may not have been your store, business or house that was vandalized this time, but it could be only a matter of time before it happens to you or yours.

Hellcats take on Brighton in playoffs

The Madoc Hellcats have now finished their regular season play and they finished in ninth place and out of the playoffs for their league. The team did quite well for a first year team and they did prove that a team made up of mainly local talent can play in this league and even beat the top team on any given night. The Hellcats had a good home record but their away record left something to be desired. Their fans do make a difference in their play.

The Hellcats now go into the Intermediate "C" O.A.S.A. playoffs and they hope to do well. They begin by playing against the other teams in their zone with the same classification. These teams are Brighton, Tweed and Verona. Brighton finished below the Hellcats in regular season play. The playoffs begin on August 8th in Brighton with a return match in Madoc on August 10th and the third and final game, if required, would probably be played in Brighton on the 12th of August. The winner of this series would then play the winner of the Tweed-Verona series before advancing to the next zone.

When the Hellcats begin the playoffs, they hope to have a couple of new faces in the Hellcat lineup. George Atkinson and Harold Bailey are certainly not strangers to the people of Madoc and they hope that they will be able to add some stability to the team and who could doubt that they will add some talent and plenty of desire. Both are real competitors and team men who don't know the meaning of the word quit. The team, however, still needs the support of their loyal fans who have proved over the season that, although they may be getting on in years, they can still rattle an umpire or an opposing coach as well as anybody. Don't let the team down now.

An interesting note to the end of the season for the Hellcats is the fact that Joe Brooks has made the all-star team. Joe remained in the top ten batters of the league for most of the season and every team learned the hard way that Joe could hit and run the bases. Congratulations Joe!

Fire Destroys Trailer

This is what was left of Mr. Dennis Anderson's tent trailer after it caught fire on Saturday afternoon at Crystal Beach

Mr. Dennis Anderson, of Belleville, had some of his property destroyed by fire at about 4:00 p.m. on Saturday afternoon, July 29th, at Crystal Beach Park. Mr. Anderson and his family were visiting at a neighboring campsite when another neighbor discovered flames coming from Mr. Anderson's hardtop tent trailer. The neighbor rushed to the trailer to try and extinguish the flames with a portable extinguisher, but as they opened the door of the trailer, it burst into flames and there was nothing that the campers could do but call the fire department. Fortunately for the campers, Mr. Bill Hawthorne, who owns the park, hands out a paper

Park. The Madoc Fire Department answered this call and everyone involved in the fire remarked on how quickly they containing emergency telephone number and the call was put in very quickly to the fire department.

All of the campers in the park were very impressed with the speed and efficiency with which the fire department answered their call for help. The department quickly brought the fire under control, but the trailer was damaged beyond repair. Mr. Hawthorne remarked, "This is only our second fire in thirty-two years and we want to say that the fire department impressed everyone with their response to the call." He went on to say that "...fortunately we had just received some rain and the department was there very quickly, or the responded and how efficient they were when they arrived.

fire might well have spread through more of the campsites." As it was, the trees surrounding the trailer were scorched for about thirty feet in the air.

After the fire was extinguished, Mr. John Anderson (no relation) and Mr. and Mrs. Harley Blackburn visited about seventy-five or eighty campsites and took donations for groceries and other supplies that the Andersons lost in the blaze. They collected $182.62.

It was not known what had caused the fire. According to neighbors of the family, the gas had been shut off as well as the stove.

Vandals destroy Kincaid's Well

The top of the well behind Kincaid's IGA was also broken off over the same weekend as well as two windows in the highschool. Whoever did the damage to the well must have hooked onto it with a chain because the broken uprights were about three inches square.

Several hundred dollars damage was done at the new Senior Citizen's building in Madoc on the July 24th weekend. The screens and windows represented most of the damage, although some panelling was also damaged.

Grand Bahamas Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Gord Lebow of R.R.4, Madoc, were very surprised when they found out that they had won the trip to the Grand Bahamas which was sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Madoc. The draw was made at the Street Dance and the Lebows had left, thinking that they would not win. Danny Jones sold them one of the two hundred tickets that were sold on the draw and it was drawn by the process of elimination. The last ticket won the draw. Mr. and Mrs. Lebow haven't decided whether they will take the trip or not.

Golf Tournament

Kincaid's I.G.A. held their Invitational Golf Tournament at the North Frontenac Golf Club on Sunday, July 16.

Glenn Brown and Mike Genereaux took the low gross and low net respectively in the staff division; Lori Kirkwood was low gross and Clint Davidson low net in the guest division. For the ladies Heather Walker and Dorothy Moore took the

Cassidy blasts Rollins over work record

Mr. Michael Cassidy, leader of the New Democratic Party of Ontario, visited Madoc and various other areas of the Hastings-Peterborough riding on Tuesday, July 25th. Mr. Cassidy remarked, "I began this morning in Belleville, in the relative comfort of the Four Seasons Hotel, and travelled to the Farmer's Market (in Belleville), to the Indian Reserve, and then all the way up, through the course of the day, to Bancroft. Among other things, I learned first hand what a stupendous amount of distance you have to cover in order to campaign in this part of the province. It's something which I knew in theory, but didn't exactly know in practice until I had actually been here." Mr. Cassidy went on to say that there were a number of problems raised throughout his trip in the riding and that the party had no magic solutions to these problems.

"We spent this morning in the Farmer's Market talking with the farmers who have been hit hard by drought and who are not protected in many cases by crop insurance."

"We spent some time today at the Maple Dale cheese factory, just south of Tweed, talking with them about the problems they are experiencing because of a drop in the milk quota from 20 million pounds to less than 10 million pounds today. That's very hard to cope with if you are trying to make an enterprise work."

He also spent some time with the Reeves of Hungerford and the village of Tweed discussing the problems that they are having with their industrial park; he spent time at the Vencer Plant in Tweed and at Cooney's Sawmill in Gilmour discussing the shortage of timber; he spent some time with the tourist operators in Bancroft and "...I spent some time with people from the PHIC committee, both those who were only concerned about a nuclear dump and those who were also concerned whether or not it might be possible to get other forms of industry for this part of the province."

Mr. Cassidy stated that many of these problems stem from the fact that the people in Queen's Park do not care about the people outside the immediate area of Toronto, and that this area suffered from a lack of leadership in Queen's Park.

"Not only is there a failure of leadership on the part of Bill Davis and Darcey McKeough and all of the gang who are running things with the Conservative government and have been running things for the last 35 years. But that is compounded, in my opinion, by a failure of effective representation at Queen's Park, by the local member in this area, the Honourable Clarke Rollins."

"Now I understand that if you have a bit of land and want to get a liquor store built upon it, Clarke can be quite beneficial to your interests. I understand that if you voted the right way the last time, the right way, and if you worked the right way the last election or two, and you wanted to outwit the Ministry of Transportation or the Ministry of Natural Resources or to the liquor store, that your chances would be greatly improved if you go and see Clarke."

"But, the fact is that at Queen's Park today, the quality of representation among the Conservative side ranges from some members who are actually quite good, believe it or not, that's what I say when I'm mellowing, to those that are indifferent and then there is Clarke Rollins. He is the only candidate in all of Ontario who sends a tape recorder to political meetings. And I have been asking myself, for finding a solution to the riddle, why doesn't Clarke Rollins speak more often in the legislature, and Elmer (Buchanan) has finally helped me find out. We'll hear more of Clarke Rollins in the Ontario legislature, the day the speaker of the house begins to allow tape recorders in the legislature rather than members."

Mr. Cassidy then asked who had been speaking for all those who had problems in this riding and he soon answered his own question. "Well, I can tell you that it has not been Clarke Rollins, because he has got to have set a record for the most silent of all of the Tory back benchers down at the benches of Queen's Park."

He also said that the Reeves that he was talking to at lunch had raised a point about the welfare rolls in Hastings County. "2,800 people are on welfare in this county, a load which is very close to becoming insupportable." This would be one of the issues that the NDP would use in their platform and he felt that, to obtain jobs for these people you had to have a healthy economy. He realised that the fight the NDP members were facing in this area would be a tough one but he stated his confidence in the member that they could achieve the number two ranking in this area within one or two elections.

Maxwell-Hill Wedding

North Woods Motor Inn, Ignace, was the setting of a lovely wedding on Saturday July 1, 1978 when Marie Sharon Lynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Maxwell of Ignace and Morgan Paige, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hill of Havelock were married. President Fisk presided at the double ring ceremony at 4 p.m.

The bride, given in marriage by her Father, wore a white polyester satin, scooped neckline dress with lace overlay on bodice, and sheer short puff sleeves. Her white picture hat was trimmed with floor length powder blue ribbon. She carried a single red rose with fern and white streamers.

Miss Laura Stanchuk of Thunder Bay was Matron of Honour. Mrs. Lea Hainsworth, Mrs. Barbara Ritchie both of Ignace and Miss Jill Hill of Havelock (sister of the groom) were bridesmaids. The girls wore identical gowns of powder blue, with blue tinted orchids in their hair and carried blue tinted orchids with fern and white streamers. The flower girl Jody Hainsworth wore a long white dress with blue ribbons and carried a basket of shasta daisies.

The groom wore a powder blue tuxedo, with a red rose boutonniere. The groomsmen were Mr. Lance Hill (brother of the groom).

Mr. Tony Hainsworth, Mr. Michael Ritchie and Mr. Brian Ritchie all of Ignace were ushers. The men wore tuxedos with navy pants and powder blue jackets, with white carnations boutonnieres.

The reception was held at the Inn and was decorated with white and blue streamers and bells, with baskets of yellow and orange mums. The brides table was highlighted with a three tier wedding cake, decorated with rose buds and topped with double wedding rings. Lance Hill was acting Master of Ceremonies.

A dance followed with 130 enjoying the music of John Andrews and his band. The couple left for points west and on returning will reside at 129 Willow Place, Ignace, Ont. Out of town guests were from Atikokan, Bancroft, Burlington, Hamilton, Havelock, Madoc, Montreal and Thunder Bay.

Mrs. Leola Broad of Florida and her son and daughter-in-law, Loren and Mary Broad, of Washington State visited the former's niece, Mrs. Wilbert McCoy, her nephew, Clayton Tompkins, and their respective families for a few days last week. This was Mrs. Broad's first visit to her former home in 25 years.

This correspondent and her daughter Kathy enjoyed a four day motor trip last week to Northern Ontario. One day was spent aboard the Polar Bear Express from Cochrane to Moosonee and Moose Factory. Although the four hour train ride there and back seems a bit long at times, the trip was well worth taking. Cost of the trip was $19.00. Moosonee is more commercialized than Moose Factory and has several outlets for Indian handicrafts. There is a government hospital at Moose Factory, which is on an island and is reached mainly by canoe. The work done by the Cree Indians is very attractive.

Mr. and Mrs. George Carpenter of Rexdale visited the latter's father, Nathan Mumby, last week.

Ted and Helen Hewitt and son Jason arrived from Baffin Island on Saturday to spend a few days with the former's mother, Mrs. Audrey Neal and her husband Ralph. Ted is employed as a mining engineer at Nanisibik Mine. Mr. and Mrs. Neal entertained friends and relatives on Sunday at their Crowe Lake cottage.

Rev. and Mrs. G.A. Meiklejohn of Dundas were guests last week of the former's brother and sister-in-law, Grenville and Helen Meiklejohn.

Barb and Bob Sanderson and son Brian visited their son Brent at Point au Baril, near Parry Sound, last week. Brent is employed for the summer at a fishing lodge there.

David Shucavage of Corning, N.Y. spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Shucavage. Other guests have been Mrs. Schucavage's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gensley of Reading, Penn. who left last Saturday after spending two weeks with them.

Would clairvoyant help locate furnace?

Dear Sir:

I read, with interest, the article appearing in the July 19th edition re: the attempts to locate certain old iron furnaces which were part of an operation many years ago.

This story brought to mind another article I read, about a year ago (unfortunately I cannot recall where) concerning a woman who is working with the Royal Ontario Museum in Toronto and who has the uncanny gift of being able to hold or touch historical objects and actually relive the era these came from. She has been a tremendous help to the R.O.M. in confirming theories they held, but were unable to prove, regarding many objects in their possession and also to enable them to determine the proper application or use of many things they had that were in fact only pieces of the whole.

I might add that this woman is supposedly no quack as she had no formal education in this field that might give her clues and also she discovered her ability by sheer accident through a visit to the museum. She has also provided them with historical data on objects given her without the benefit of the related history.

Anyway it is possible Mr. Dunn has heard of this woman but if not, I thought it might be worth an enquiry and maybe engage her assistance and from the picture she might be able to provide, they could narrow their digging considerably.

Yours truly
Fred Jones

This map shows all but the most northerly parts of Lake Township. Although these routes are marked and come under the jurisdiction of the Marmora and Marmora and Lake Department they are more easily reached from Coe Hill or Gilmour.

Of the one hundred student placements, thirty were for Young Canada Works Programs or federally funded jobs, sixty-two were regular full time jobs last year. The best they could do last year was place nine students, but this year they increased that to one hundred students.

through regular employment in this area and eight of the placements were for casual employment. Mr. Drew Gonsulus expressed disappointment that, even with the marked improvement in placements, there were still two jobs in the Tweed area that they had been unable to fill. From the time I did the interview with Mr. Gonsulus until I typed this article, he had added three more placements to the list and this was after the office had officially closed in Madoc, which was on Wednesday, July 26th. He did his job well in this area and worked hard for those he was paid to work for - the students of Marmora, Madoc and Tweed.

Vandalism In Madoc

Eleven thermal-pane windows were broken at the Senior Citizen's building construction site, but it was not the first time that vandals had struck this site. Several hundred dollars damage had been done earlier this month. Frank Zupet and Sons Construction Co. has installed a vapour light and they are considering a night watchman as well.

It was originally reported by at least one area radio station that the construction site had been vacant for several days, but the construction superintendant assured us that this was not true. After a regular work week before, the men returned on Monday and found the damage.

In 1925 Lum Pao-Hwa of China played 764 games of tennis in one week.

Champion Arabian Horses Trained Near Stirling

by NAOMI WAKAN

Chamiraffda, Ros. of Warob, Azlaf Estes - tales of distant Arabia? No, it's all going on in a spot between Stirling and Belleville. These are not names of exotic princesses, but of very beautiful Arabian horses. Visiting Warob stables near Stirling is entering a world of very specialised horse lovers. The Arabian horse is a small horse (about 15 hands - 60 inches) and is four times as expensive as a thoroughbred. Dorothy Lawson who trains the horses at the stables explained the distinguishing marks of one of the oldest domestic breeds. The Arabian horse has a small forehead and a tiny muzzle with a small lower lip. There is a concavity in the profile below the forehead. The ears are tiny, the back of the neck arched and the croup flat. They carry their tails high and away from the body.

Although they can pull a sulky and are beginning to be used for jumping (because they are small they are entered in a separate jumping class) Arabians are mainly bred for show and the stud fee can be as high as $2,000. Dorothy's job is to teach the horses stall manners and then get them used to harness and rider. Preparing a horse for the show ring can take two years. One needs real patience for the job. What are stable manners? The horse shouldn't fly out the moment the stable door is opened, not should it kick or threaten. It must learn to stand still when it's tied or brushed and to pick its feet up (for cleaning and medication). All this is taught by using reward and punishment. Actual ring training does not begin until the horse is about 2 years old, when it starts on the lunge line (a 15 - 20 ft. line that guides the horse around the ring). The horse learns to walk, trot, canter, whoa, speed up, and slow down to voice command. Then comes the unnatural process of carrying someone on its back. First the horse gets used to the saddle, bridle and bit without a rider. Then when the horse has become trusting, one person talks gently at the head and the other mounts in stages, first maybe putting a little weight on the stirrup and then a little more until she eventually swings up and sits in the saddle. All very painstaking work demanding endless patience. As Dorothy says "A horse is like a child, if it's been well treated and loved it will naturally behave well".

Mr. Warren Whitley and his wife Sylvia lease the very fine stable and arena facilities from Mr. VandenBosch. The Stirling to Belleville area may be famous for other things but across the States and Canada, wherever Arabians are bred, it's famous for the Warob Arabians. A horse such as Azraff brought fame to this area although he was never shown in the ring, because his off-spring were all champions. In 1970 he became a 'Living Legend' and in 1976 was given the award 'Supreme Sire' by the Arabian Horse Association.

The Whitley's Observation room which overlooks the arena is packed with award ribbons and trophies. They have horses showing in the States; as the horse wins awards and becomes well-known, people want to use the Warob Stallions as studs. The stables show all signs of a lot of caring - the horses have large stalls and are not tied up. Everywhere from tack-rooms to horse-showers are signs that the horses are cherished not because they are useful, but because they are beautiful.

Dorothy Lawson, who showed us around, graduated in Zoology from Guelph. She is well-known in horse circles in the area as she has shown her own horses here. She had her first horse when she was 11 and horses still absorb most of her interest. She is, however, also a good artist in watercolors and charcoal.

The Warob stables represent a world not known to most of us. A world of wealthy owners (a horse can cost up to $200,000) and people willing to spend a lot of time showing these beautiful animals. Yet even if it does not seem particularly relevant to our day to day lives, we can all appreciate beauty and excellence and these are two qualities that are the key to the famous Warob Arabians.

Dorothy Lawson pets one of the Arabians she trains at the Warren Whitley stables south of Stirling. According to Miss Lawson, horses, like children, will behave gently if they are gently brought up.

Saddle Your Dreams

with Naomi Wakan

Please be sure to include some details of the day on which you had your dream, when you send them in.

Dear Mrs. Wakan,

I had been in a depression in mind and body and didn't seem to be able to get out of it, when I had this amazing dream. I dreamed that I was a patient and also the doctor. I gave myself all sorts of good advice including that I should listen to people. In the morning when I woke I remembered the advice clearly and took action on it and feel much better now.

Ms. A
Great dream. I really felt that we all know the answers to our problems and that we can reach these answers through prayer, meditation and in our dreams. Of course, if something feels to be seriously wrong then of course we may need additional support to see us through. Whether the support comes from a minister, doctor, herbalist doesn't matter. But the awareness of our ills comes from us and we take responsibility from our healing instead of just throwing ourselves at someone and expecting them to heal us.

Dear Naomi Wakan,

I seem to have been very confused recently about almost any action I take. This is very unusual for me. I had a dream with a very strange image: I dreamed that I went to put food in the oven and that the oven was lying on its back, so the food went in rather like a freezer. I was very confused.

Mrs. P.

Suggested interpretation: There seems to be a confusion in the dream between hot and cold (you confuse the oven and freezer). This suggests that your signals are getting muddled i.e. that you are not perceiving situations very clearly, or responding very clearly. The expression "blowing hot and cold" comes to mind. This often happens when your energy is drained either because you have been over-extending or because you are repressing some strong feeling. In these cases it can even be that your vision actually becomes clouded and the eyes feel strained trying to see things clearly. Its amazing how accurate some of the expression of human behaviour are e.g. 'up-tight', 'straight-laced', 'stiff-necked', 'stiff-upper-lip' etc. You can probably think of a lot more. In your case the confusion is probably causing you to be moody, cold one moment, hot the next.

Dear Mrs. Wakan,

I was working away from home and missing all my friends. Feeling very much alone. I dreamed that I was with my friends in the locker room and that we were horsing around. Lots of laughter and warmth.

Pete

Suggested interpretation: This is the most simple of dreams and very child-like in that it is wish fulfillment. The childlike part of us believes in fairy tales where things can become true immediately, it is when we become 'adult' that our wishes seem so impossible to obtain or we put so many obstructions in the way of us simply wishing for a thing and getting it.

ISSUES IN THE LAW

By Andre Philpot, Barrister and Solicitor

THE LIMITS OF THE LAW

Ever since man left the caves, every society has felt the necessity to impose regulations on its members. At first the regulations were little more than habits, then taboos, then commands imposed by rulers and now complex legislation enacted by our own representatives. They control every type of interaction between people.

The first laws were the simplest. They outlawed assault and interference with the property of others. They were designed to assure that people could live in reasonable security that their life and property were safe from the brutish or greedy. The penalties imposed were designed to punish offenders and either remove them from circulation or to teach them a sufficient lesson that they would not cause problems again.

There is little doubt that this category of laws is essential to an orderly society. To many early politicians it was the proper role of the society to enforce only their laws which directly forbade interference with the person or his property. To go further and pass laws for any other reason was considered an unfair limitation on personal freedom.

Over the centuries laws grew to not only protect individuals in society but to help assure that the aims of society were not undermined by actions which, although they didn't threaten another individual, were seen as a threat to society itself. Thus blasphemy, attempted suicide, and adultery as well as other sexual offences were created.

These so-called offences against the social order were not taken lightly. One hundred years ago a lot of them were capital offences. It is somewhat ironic to think that in punishing someone for the "crime" of attempting suicide, Victorian society executed the offender, thereby completing what he had begun.

As the Western World became more industrialized the law came to protect more and more society's commercial objects. New taxes were established; they had to be enforced by laws. Price fixing began; it had to be controlled by laws.

One person's actions could, it seemed, affect thousands of others he had never met. Polluters, if uncontrolled, caused losses miles away even years afterwards. A manufacturer could sell goods through so many wholesalers and retailers that it was virtually impossible to guess in whose hands his products would end.

As a result of these complexities the Twentieth Century has produced volume upon volume of Statutes. Regulations and judges' decisions which control virtually every facet of our life. Laws regrettably seem to pile up into larger and larger masses of virtually unintelligible restrictions and it now takes a lawyer to do what once were simple business dealings.

It seems harder for governments to remove laws than it is for them to create them. Often laws are forgotten. Recently Illinois discovered that a law prohibiting smoking completely has been sitting, forgotten, on the books for nearly a century.

As the laws multiply so does their scope. Recent Ontario laws requiring drivers and passengers of motor vehicles to wear seat belts and for motorcyclists to wear helmets seem to start a new paternalistic category of offences.

It seems pretty clear that we are better off for wearing the seat belts or helmets but, none the less, to many it is simply not the business of the law to tell us what to do when all we risk is our own personal safety. Surely if an adult motorcyclist chooses not to wear a helmet it is his decision and none of our business to second guess it.

The argument is that seatbelt laws should be accepted because they set out what is best for us. But it would probably be better for us all to turn in for bed at eleven o'clock every night or to brush our teeth after every meal - that doesn't mean there should be a law against staying up later or not brushing.

While it may result of the best intentions, the control exercised over us by the laws we enact is such that we should sometimes stop to think what the limits of the laws should be.

Students will learn to conduct energy projects

About 60 Toronto secondary school students will spend three weeks this summer learning about energy and training to conduct energy projects in their high schools starting in the fall.

The Energy in Society Summer Workshop, July 31 to August 18 at the Boyne Natural Science School, near Orangeville, will be the first of its kind in the province. The program will be jointly sponsored by the Ministry of Energy, the Ontario Youth Secretariat and the Toronto Board of Education.

"We want to give the students a good background in energy matters, stressing the importance of energy conservation and the role of renewable energy so that they can pass on the information to other students during the next school year," Energy Minister Reuben Baetz said. "It might lead to similar workshops throughout Ontario in the future."

The workshop will be conducted as part of the Ontario Government's Experience '78 program. Students will be required to report on their plans for a school project. Possible projects include the conducting of energy audits in schools, the organizing of an energy day for the student body or the community, or the setting up of recycling programs.

The curriculum will cover matters of energy supply and demand, technology, conservation, renewable resources and leadership skills through lectures, discussion groups and tours.

Principals in 30 City of Toronto schools have selected the 60 students who will take part in the workshop. One of 30 Experience '78 projects to be conducted this year by the Ministry of Energy, the workshop is estimated to cost about $55,000.

WEEK OF AUG. 2, 1978

I have had a friendly, running battle with the Consumers Association of Canada for almost 10 years. I have found CAC members, especially the executive members, to be informed, friendly and sincere.

At the same time, I have felt they were attacking the wrong sector of the food chain when they attempted to find fault with marketing boards in this country.

This is not to say that all marketing boards are lily-white bastions of honesty and integrity; only that, for the most part, these boards have done their best for producers without ripping off consumers. Unfortunately, the consumers groups have, on occasion, made unfair accusations against marketing boards.

Now comes a new president: Yvonne Miles. She started her term in office by saying high beef prices give her indigestion.

Good. I do not know how good Canadian beef could give anyone indigestion but perhaps the price might. But where was Mrs. Miles during the last five years, particularly the last three, when beef farmers were a disaster area; when they were getting such low prices for their products that many went bankrupt?

I do not recall anyone suggesting that consumers should pay another 25 cents a pound for their beef so that producers could stay in business when farmers were finding it so tough.

And to suggest a beef marketing board would have sent the CAC into a dreadful tizzy. But a beef board would help considerably to ward off these terrible lows in the beef cycle.

It is going to be a trying year for the association. It has a deficit of more than $245,000 and the federal government is urging members to find a better way to finance the CAC than to rely on government grants.

The CAC has decided to seek corporate funding. It is too bad they have to do it that way. Any money from big business in the form of grants is tainted money. The CAC's integrity could be questioned although Mrs. Miles hopes it can be done "in a way that will protect our integrity."

It is difficult to say which way the association should jump in times of restraint. Getting money to finance almost anything can be difficult but I would explore all other avenues before accepting corporate grants.

Membership in the association — it costs $8 a year — is down from a peak several years ago of 120,000 to 95,000, a loss of 25,000, almost a quarter. I believe it is because consumers have become a little complacent and they need a shaking up.

After reading stories in the newspapers during the legislative committee's investigation of kickbacks in the food chain, I think it is a bad time for consumers to be complacent.

One of those corporate executives refused to answer some of the questions put to him by committee members, the same attitude that has prevailed among some corporate executives for many years. A Royal commission would make these people answer legitimate questions and I, for one, think it is about time some questions were answered.

If there are ripoffs along the food chain, those ripoffs do not come at the farm gate or through marketing boards. The ripoffs come in other areas of the food chain simply because there is more opportunity. There are 338,000 farmers in Canada yet only three major meat packers and only a handful of retail supermarket chains.

Individual farmers can't cheat to the detriment of the buying public but the opportunity is great for all the rest of the people in the food chain.

And that is where the CAC should be focussing its efforts. I hope they find the money to keep up their good work.

McGREGOR, Glenn - In loving memory of a dear brother, brother-in-law and uncle, who went home to be with God, August 6th, 1976.
We always smile and make no fuss.
No one misses him more than us.
And when old times we often recall,
That's when we miss him
most of all.
Sadly missed and always loved by brother Walter, sister-in-law Glenda and niece Wendy and nephews Jason, Jamie McGregor.
We will always miss you. 11

McGREGOR - In loving memory of our dear son and brother Glenn who passed away Aug. 6, 1976.
Two sad and lonely years
have passed.
Since our great sorrow fell,
The shock that we received that day.
No one can ever tell.
You bade no one a last farewell.
Nor even said good-bye.
You were gone before we realized.
And only God knows why.
Some may think you are forgotten.
Though on earth you are no more,
But in memory you are with us.
As you always were before.
We mourn for him in silence
But many a silent tear is shed.
When others are asleep,
Never shall his memory
fade.
Loving thoughts shall ever wonder,
To the spot where he is laid,
Sadly missed and ever remembered Mom and Dad, sisters Barbara and Betty. 11

Metro Toronto Zoo has a large colony of Sacred, or Hamadryas baboons from Africa. This little fellow -- like early man -- seems to be interested in primitive tools. His father, Jude, has sired several youngsters. Metro Toronto Zoo is open year round (except Dec. 24 & 25), and is a treat in any season. The Zoo is located on Meadowvale Road just north of the 401 on Exit 61A (10 miles east of the Don Valley Parkway. If coming from the east, take the Sheppard exit (#63). Closing times are seasonal. Summer hours: 9:30 a.m. - 8:00 p.m. (last admissions at 6:30 p.m.).
